CELEBRATING A CENTURY OF ORGANIZED LABOR 1907-2007

Many men of United Mine Workers of America's (UMWA) First Local Branch #6481, District #10, gathered together at the first "Union Stump" near the steps of the Black Diamond Depot (Museum) on Railroad Avenue in May 1907. It has been previously recorded that the date of organization of Local #6481 was May 15, 1907.

We may never know the names of the approximate 175 men in this photograph and the two women on the porch to the buildings on the left. "By the end of the first World War, District 10 of the UMW had signed up nearly 5,200 members, almost all of the miners in its jurisdiction, the coalfields of western Washington." (PORTAGE V I N. 1, 1979)

We need your help in developing a Roster of members of Local 6481, District 10, for the Archives. If you are aware of an individual who was a member of the UMWA, District #10, please let us know their name by letter or e-mail at the address shown above.

Thank you!!

The mission of the Black Diamond Historical Society shall be the discovery, preservation, and dissemination of the history of Black Diamond and environs, as it relates to King County and the State of Washington.

MY SWEETHEART'S A MULE IN THE MINE

This post card from a Wallace, Idaho mining museum states the character of the mule. "Being a dependable, intelligent and hard working animal the mule was particularly well suited to hauling in the mine. They quickly learned the haulage level and their job, making reins unnecessary. These hardy animals sometimes stayed underground for up to eight years. They have now been replaced by battery powered locomotives sometimes referred to as "Electric Mules". (Private collection)

EDITOR'S REPORT

Steve Israel

Dee and I took a road trip in April. It seems like most people fly to their destinations now days, and fly back.

It's the journey, not just the destination. We have always enjoyed road trips.

We visited relatives and friends along the way, most of them we would have never seen if not for driving.

Our first stop was in Oregon to pick up Dee's aunt, yes she enjoys road trips too.

We visited Dee's sister and several cousins; Aunt Ruth's brother, 2 sisters, and a cousin she hadn't seen in years; and my running buddy that used to live in Tacoma and 2 cousins that I hadn't seen in years.

We stopped in Hershey PA to refill our supply of chocolate, then proceeded to Boston where I ran the Boston Marathon, and then crossed into Canada at Niagara Falls.

We took the time to visit some museums and points of interest. We were in awe of the vast open spaces in some parts of the country that still exist. We tried to imagine how the early settlers managed to cross the open prairies, cross rivers and mountains. They were a tough bunch.

We traveled 8,500 miles in 4 1/2 weeks, and our lives were enriched beyond compare.

BDHS CALENDAR

SEPTEMBER

3 - Labor Day @ BD Museum & Ball Field

OCTOBER

21 - Membership Meeting / Election of Officers @ BD Museum 1:30

NOVEMBER

10 - Veterans Day Program @ BD Museum

DECEMBER

8 - Christmas Celebration @ Museum

After settling in for a while at home to reflect on our trip, we know that our most precious time we ever spend, is the time with family and friends.

It may cost us a little more time and money to travel the way we do, but there is no comparison to the rewards we reap.

Now it is back to work, pay off the gas cards, and start planning for the next road trip. We have places to go, people to see, and new friends we haven't met.

Stay active, stay young.

Steve

SECRETARY REPORT

By Dee Israel

ARCHIVES: JoAnne Matsumura, Archivist - The restoring process of the Morganti cheese cooler is a work in progress.

The Black Diamond disaster siren of the mining era has been donated to the Historical Society. We would like to get it installed on the Museum property and be able to blow it on special days like Independents Day, Labor Day and Pearl Harbor Day. Our idea has been placed before the Black Diamond Planning Commission, and we are waiting for the results.

EDUCATION/OUTREACH: Chair Coke Roberts - The 3rd grade class from the Black Diamond Grade School visited the Museum on Thursday, May 24th.

The Black Diamond All School Reunion honoring classes of 1938 & 39 was held on Wednesday, June 6th at the Community Center. There was a turnout of over 100 people.

Thursday, June 7th, Auburns Mountain View High Schools History Class visited the Museum.

FACILITIES & GROUNDS: Chair, Don Malgarini brought & with the help of Gino Picini and Doc Botts, planted 108 geraniums in front of the Museum, along Railroad Ave.

We have a new flag with lights.

We have new “open” signs (some lighted and some not).

The train schedule sign in front of the Museum will be completed soon.

The security alarm system has been successfully updated.

There’s now a ‘dog policy’ in effect at the museum - with the exception of Special Needs Dogs, animals are not allowed in the Museum buildings.

GRANTS:

We have completed the grant from Councilmember Pete von Reichbauer, through 4Culture, for the reprint of the Society’s “A Tour Guide To Historic Black Diamond, Washington”.

The Society will be finalizing the Heritage Facilities Grant awarded through 4Culture for the Museum building security system.

The 4Culture Sustained Support Grant for 2006 has been completed. The Society has been notified that funding will be awarded for the calendar year 2007.

MEMBERSHIP: Chair Dee Israel

announced that we now have 284 memberships. She is still planning a membership drive in the near future.

NEWSLETTER/WEBSITE: Chair Steve Israel - We now have a counter on our website. As of May 20th, it shows that there have been 463 hits.

PROGRAMS: Chair Howard Botts - At the Membership meeting on April 22, 2007 JoAnne Matsumura introduced special guest, Dorothy Wilhelm, of Comcast’s My Home Town series. She spoke about her time in Black Diamond while making the program featuring Black Diamond. She mentioned that the Black Diamond Historical Society is the only such organization she’s seen that is run strictly by volunteers. “My Home Town – Black Diamond” was then shown to the audience.

Featured speaker Grover Smail, a retired underground coal miner related stories from his experiences of 44 1/2 years, from 1929-1974. He started in Pennsylvania and came to Washington in 1941 at the Spring Glen mine in Renton, was at the Elk Mine and the Morris Mine in Ravensdale. Grover’s wife & daughter accompanied him. A question & answer session completed his talk.

Heritage Day (previously known as Welsh Day) was an enjoyable day. (See article elsewhere in this newsletter by Frank Hammock.)

PUBLIC RELATIONS: Chair Keith Watson – We will have a ½ page ad in the Labor Day brochure this year instead of just a ¼ page. Also, we will have a booth on the school grounds for Labor Day (Sept. 3rd).

TOURS: Chair Don Mason has taken several tours to Franklin this year. This is becoming a very popular event.

ADDITIONAL BUSINESS:

A committee has been formed that's working on the "Direction of the Museum".

We are in the process of getting an Election Committee set up. There will be changes coming up on the Board. One of them will be me. I have advised President Malgarini that I won't be running for Secretary next year. However, I will run for a Director position on the Board.

We wish to thank the following for their generous donations to the Black Diamond Historical Society.

LOOKING BACK: THIRTY YEARS AGO

Society Newsletter, July 1977, and Around Town
From the Archives

Gone but not forgotten are; Kristena Turk, Peter Tost, Mary J. Brudevold, Amy Deane Burk, Carl Omana, Fannie T. Ramshak, Cecil Hunter, Primo C. Vinci, Jalmar E. Johnson, and James W. Norman.

Elaine Griffin was appointed to the King County Arts Commission.

The Society sold calendars, posters of the Bakery, and Black Diamond Coal stickers at the Labor Day Celebration. (A few stickers and posters still available)

Ed Banchero and other Black Diamond soccer players hosted 140 players to the first outing of the Pacific Northwest Soccer old timer's Association, at the Eagles Hall. Hughie Hughes won the 'oldest present' prize as it was his 91st birthday.

The annual "old-timer's" picnic was held at Lake Sawyer Resort.

Frank Costi donated an oak filing cabinet. Was refinished by Ann Steiert, (now exhibited in the "Doctors Room"), and school photographs donated from Mr. & Mrs. Homer Norman.

School paper featured was the "Sparkler, March 1939".

And from the Archives was an extraction of a 1906 letter from the Pacific Coast Company about a train accident, Engine #12 with 36 cars loaded with coal coming down the hill from Black Diamond striking a tree over the track due to the heavy wind storm. Six cars were completely wrecked at a value of $4,500. They'll gather the iron; burn the wood and sack as much of the coal as possible. Conductor Watkins and Engineer Major were okay.

Another letter featured from the Archives of August 1919 states that the Franklin Hotel of about 28 rooms was totally destroyed by fire, cause suspected by the kitchen range. They may rebuild with a boarding house.

Obituary featured is of Mr. James W. Norman, teacher and principal 1928-1936, of the Black Diamond grammar school.

Photograph featured was the Faculty of Black Diamond School, 1932-1933.

Featured History article is series one on a thesis titled Washington's Green River Coal Company by C. William Thorndale, on the community of Franklin, Wa.

IN MEMORIAM

✧ Gone but not forgotten ✧

By JoAnne Matsumura

✧ Cleo Bryant Balsley

a lifetime member of the Society was born September 19, 1915 to John & Emma Bryant, and passed away on February 28, 2007. She is also a member of the Black Diamond High School Alumni, having graduated in 1934.

The family arrived in Black Diamond in 1924 where her father worked as an engineer in the coalmines.

Cleo was a member of St. Charles Circle, and served her community by volunteering with the Civil Air Patrol, Fourth of July and Christmas parades, a Republican precinct chairwoman, and chairwoman of the Park Board in the 1960s. She was instrumental in the acquisition of the Forward Thrust pool, Chinook Park and Martin Johnson Park.

Her employment life for many years was with Beyer Heating Oil and at Rochdale.

Children, Robert, Grace, Mike, and Glenn, and brother Bill Bryant survive Cleo.

✧ Marshal D. Ponko was born May 31, 1938 to Marshall & Jesse Malgarini Ponko, and passed away February 11, 2007. He is the grandson of Victor & Esther Bartoluzzi Malgarini.

Marshall was a recent member just short of one year with the Society. In his short time with us he gave a lasting legacy of a large monetary contribution. We shall always remember his generosity.

He was skilled at his work as an engineer testing the earth's stability before bridges could be built. He received his education and degrees in Alaska. He had experience working in the coalfields near Cook Inlet as a Geologist.

Marshall served his country with the U S Army, and upon retirement from the military he went to work for Civil Service as an Engineer.

At an early age Marshall experienced an adventure few of us could have had. In 1947 with his mother and sister they traveled to Alaska over the Alcan Highway to join their father. They were one of the first civilian families to travel this highway after WW II. His mother drove from Tacoma to Anchorage, over potholes and mud. There were very few services of gas stations, sleeping quarters and small grocery stores. It took them ten days.

Marshall is survived by his mother, Jesse Malgarini Ponko, son Stefan & (Cindy) Ponko, two grandchildren, Lea and Ian, and one sister, Marilyn Tressler.

✧ Joann Dobson Stebly was born January 23, 1924 to Walter & Margaret Dobson, and passed away on March 10, 2007. She was 83 years young.

Joann married John "Bud" Stebly while she was enlisted in the U.S. Navy. They were married on October 12, 1946. Not long after John was sent to Pearl Harbor, Joann moved to Black Diamond. They raised their family here.

Joann was community spirited having served over 45 years as past president and member of the Black Diamond Eagles Club, attending and serving at the senior center, and was resident council vice president at the Cascade House in Enumclaw.

As an Avon Lady for more than 30 years, she was always enthusiastic.

Joanne is survived by sons Dennis, Greg, and Mike, and daughter Margo Stebly.

She was preceded in death by here husband in 1992, sister Diane Wingate in 1996, and son Stacey Stebly in 2005.

✧ George Vetter passed away on March 5, 2007 and was a recent Society member. Having joined us for one of our tours of the historic site of Franklin we were just getting to know one another. His memorial was at the National Cemetery, and being an active member of the Eagles, a gathering was held at the Black Diamond Eagles.

Black Diamond Holds First Annual Heritage Day

By Frank Hammock

At noon, on June 2nd, 2007, the doors of the Black Diamond Museum opened to entertain the visitors who would be coming to attend the simple festivities in celebration of the first annual Heritage Day hosted by the Black Diamond Historical Society.

Past celebrations during this same time of year were specific to the Welsh who played a major role in Black Diamond's coal mining history from its humble beginnings in the late 1800's and throughout the turn of the 20th Century. They were at one time, the largest ethnic group living in Black Diamond. But, the Welsh were not the only people to have lived and worked in this humble municipality. Other nationalities who immigrated to Black Diamond were represented as well, such as the Germans, the Italians, the Finns, the English, and some 24 others, comprising at one time, a total of 30 ethnic origins that made up the diverse population during Black Diamond's coal mining boom in the early 1900's. As a result, it seemed fitting to carry the tradition one step further and honor those whose rich and colorful diversity contributed in their own simple way to the dawn of a prosperous era.

Stepping through the door, the visitor was greeted by JoAnne Matsumura, of the Black Diamond Historical Society, who wore a simple flavor of traditional Norwegian dress from the era. She smiled brightly and whisked their curiosity to the various displays within the museum that depicted much of Black Diamond's history and events whereby diverse ethnicity played a role. As the visitors mingled, they enjoyed the desserts and punch, which included some surprisingly tasty Welsh cakes, baked by Phyllis Jones, Historian for the Puget Sound Welsh Association and member of the Seattle Welsh Women's Club, that alarmed the palate with flavor that often beckoned one back for a second or even a third helping.

By 1 PM, all the visitors were asked to be seated in the main auditorium. Mr. Don Malgarini, President of the Black Diamond Historical Society, gave a short but delightful introduction. This was followed by a comical but interesting presentation on the history of Black Diamond given by the life long prior resident, Mr. Conrad "Coke" Roberts. Mr. Roberts spoke of how the various and diverse groups interacted together, and that many people often had to learn just a few lines of a different language in order to communicate out of respect for one another. Communication was necessary in the social circles, but especially in the dangerous mines when expression and experience often meant the difference between life and death. He shared some cultural learning of that era by telling a few colorful stories that depicted one of many ways in which people learned about one another – such as when someone was offered over to another family's home for dinner, only to come back with sauce still on their face from the spaghetti they had eaten, a food they had never heard of before. Mr. Roberts skillfully blended the simple living situations of the past to where its people ended up today, and how from this tough and challenging way of life, many still made valuable contributions to society as a whole.

For example, various families produced not only good coal miners, but fine soccer players as well, who were known throughout the various soccer teams on the West Coast. Sports and coal mining went hand in hand, and if one could play well, it often guaranteed a job in the mines. In fact, at one time, sports was Black Diamond's official pastime. One gentleman, who started as one of Black Diamond's High School Principal's later went on to work in the famous Manhattan Project that produced America's first Atomic Bomb. Mr. Roberts himself contributed to 52 years in education having taught at both the High School and University levels, specializing in history. Mr. Roberts' own father, Vic Roberts, was on the early school board, became a champion soccer player for the area, and began his own life as that of an indentured servant, which is a laborer who worked under a contract for a specific period of time to an employer to pay off a debt, usually one of passage to a new country or home. Also, Mr. Roberts' brother did experimental work on the B29 bombers during the second World War, which carried the most advanced technology of that era like pressurized cabins, a central fire-control system, and remote controlled machine-gun turrets. Finally, many went off to serve in the war when the war effort demanded America's best. Thus, contributions were made in areas like science, engineering, education, labor, and the military to name a few – all from one coal mining community that boasts of having a population larger than that of Seattle during its boom time.

The presentation ended with a 20 minute film, Comcast's My Home Town series (filmed in October 2006 and aired during the month of November 2006) on the history of Black Diamond. Visitors then mingled and talked of old times, perused the Museum, forged new friendships during the gathering, and told stories. Some who were present were related to someone of the past. For example, two gentlemen arrived who were both related to a miner who had perished in one of the Franklin mines, a sister town not 3 miles away that also harbored an ethnically diverse population, where a noted fire claimed 37 lives from smoke inhalation in August of 1894. It is known that some of Black Diamond's citizens often walked to Franklin to work in one of its mines when work was not available in the various mines that were in operation in Black Diamond at the time. It was also in Franklin where in 1891, African American strikebreakers were brought in from the Midwest to quell the labor unrest that grew out of contract wages and rights disputes. Finally, in about 1919, Black Diamond became one of the absorption points for the various nationalities in need of work when the town of Franklin was disband. Ethnic diversity played a major role that affected two communities and their contribution to the overall scheme of a changing era in history.

Thus, Black Diamond owes its existence today from the prosperity and hard work of the many nationalities that flourished there. Its Museum is a tribute to those individuals of various ethnic origins to preserve their rich heritage through stories, artifacts, and documents for generations to come who have a thirst for knowledge of their heritage and place in history. The people of Black Diamond are proud of their vivid and dramatic past and from henceforth, will honor all of its citizens and their ethnicity that contributed their individual and collective talents in the making of America. And, from this celebration, the rewards of their trials and tribulations will live on as a reminder to future generations that the price for freedom and the definition of equality was spawned from well-grounded roots that began from the seeds of existence once born, nourished, and gave life along Black Diamonds' now quiet streets.

One truly should get the recipe for those Welsh cakes. They were so tasty.

The Black Diamond Historical Society is appreciative of the 4Culture's Operational Funding Program through the Hotel/Motel Tax Revenues, which helps provide these, and other events, free to the public.

BLACK DIAMOND: MINING THE MEMORIES GOES TO FINLAND

By JoAnne Matsumura

Leo & Armi Salo from Finland visited the Museum on April 18, 2007 and were presented with Black Diamond: Mining the Memories, which they will present to a University in Finland.

The Salos have generously contributed their time in translating documents and inscriptions on many Black Diamond Cemetery grave markers for the Society over the course of about seven years. We learned there are more Finns buried in the cemetery than we realized. We gratefully appreciate this work, and thank them for their time and assistance.

ON THE GROUNDS

Left to right: Steve Israel, Keith Watson and Clayton Mead have replaced the rotted wooden support that was holding up the coal car on the slope. They decided to use 2 steel poles, bolted and welded to the rails, so it won't rot away again.
